THE SPECTER OF CIVIL WAR.-It ought not be disguised from the country that the grim and ghastly specter of civil war is rising indisctly visible above the horizon of American litics. We utter the note of warning, and re do it from a profound conviction that there a necessity for it. We should be glad to see our eyes against so painful and awful a nth if thereby it could be averted. But that not the way to avert calamities. It is the ear to invite them and to be unprepared for sentiments professedly in the interests of the shem when they come. It is time the counself, and frequently urge the President to were alarmed, and for intelligent, peaceing, and patriotic men to open their eyes to serve the Constitution and restore the country low-moving currents of the wide, dark, thomless sea that rolls to the frightful preci-ice ahead. In no other way can the terrible ern papers, and afford, indeed, the "very e ahead. In no other way can the terrible ern papers, and afford, indeed, the "very nge be avoided. We must awake to the finel to Northern fanatical fire" which rils that surround us, or we are inevitably s and beyond the power of redemption as a These Northern publishers in the interest of ublican government. Let no man who has an trifle in view of the possibility of civil South, of the silliest and most fanatical kind ar. The Duke of Wellington has said that giving direct aid and comfort, and probably so all other temporal calamities in a civilized State are as nothing in comparison with this. All ther cvils are tolerable in comparison. In a untry so vast as ours, if civil war should escure its duration or penetrate its awful tion to the South, and they profess intense sup lackues or cast its consequences.

The war we have just passed through, though hnically a civil war, was, in its main characeristics, national. There was no division of oods, involving conflicts of arms, fire, and slaughter, in the North, and there was no ach division in the South. The nearest ap. rune a great risk of being condemned by the wooch to anything of this kind took place in Missonri and in East Tennessee, and in those harmless, but their support is injurious—a heavy States the horrors of the war were the most appalling. The civil war we speak of as threatening the peace of this country in the not remote future is one whose shadows would rest the Convi-house at Glasgow, Kentneky, to apover every State, city, and village from Nova Scotia to the Rocky Mountains, and which, ossibly, might cover their lonely peaks and ttle down upon the Pacific slopes. It is peraps quite probable that some persons who the possibility of such a calamity as we refer to with an incredulous smile or even a contempnone sneer. So multitudes of well-meaning nen received the notes of warning of the war that has just closed. So many persons, both North and South, joked and sneered in 1860 and in the preceding years-joked and sneered even up to the very moment when the sulphurvolume leaped forth as from the month of bell. Not a few of them, alas! long since attered their last mockery, uttered their last riviality, over events of which they had no discernment until they came upon them. We utter, we repeat, the distinct notes of warning now, in this month of April and year of peace and grace, 1866; now while the power is yet in the hands of the people, who must all suffer to an extent which no pen can describe he lurid flames of universal strife; now while there is time to take measures to avert the impending doom-we utter the distinct notes of not wish chaos and night to come again, that the specter, hideous and bloody, deformed and polluted, of such a civil war as has never been tnessed in modern times is slowly rising before their vision! And it is scarcely three years off. However appalling the figure, we had something of it, until its lineaments are burnt in upon our brains, until we are fully roused to the necessity of the great duty of putting forth efforts adequate to the extraordinary emergency, and to shield us from the direful calamity. The duty and the power are now in the hands of the people, not the people of any one State or of any one aection, but of all the States and of all sections. They can control and they and they only can ward off civil war. Will they do it? We do not know, and cannot answer. If they are not lost to their own interests and welfare, if their hearts are not shut to the instincts of self-preservation. if they are not hopelessly blind to inture poss ble miseries in comparison with which all that they have suffered in the late war was as nothing and less than nothing, they will gird their loine, they will rouse themselves as no people ever did before, and overcome the obstacles to the settlement of our national troubles before | and elequent words that have yet fallen from they become insurmountable and unremovable. They will do or forbear to do almost auything rather than subject themselves to the dark doom of Civil War.

The manufacturers of New England, Penusylvania, and New York, the wool and pork- to address a meeting which had been convened grewers of Ohio, the corn and wheat-producers of Indiana and Illinois and the Northwest generally, the stock-raisers and tobacco-growers of but, in response to numerous requests, we re-Kentucky, and the cotton cultivators of the Southern States, ought to make common canse interests of a common humanity that a settlement of our difficulties shall be made before the next Presidential election. Otherwise, disasters we allude to will not come npon us. Beyond that period, there will be no common arbiter, and the power to effect a settlement the people. Beyond that is the shadow of Beyond that, with no previous settle. ment, is a vision of wors grotesque, shapeless, crible as ever Milton had of Paudemonium. Let our countrymen pause now; of all parties and of all sections; our countrymen, we mean, who have something to lose, who own property, who have families or friends, who are just recovering, it may be, from the misfortnnes of the past, or who have wept over new-made graves; let them pause and demand of the politicians a settlement of our troubles while a peaceful settlement is possible, and before the next Presidential election; and If those politiclans will not hear and act and end the strife while they can and may and ought, then let the them with awe; and we are told that, with the people rise up in their might at the ballot-box and buri from power any man and every man who persists, from whatever motive or with whatever pretense, in jeoparding the internal peace of this country and the lives, the prop- men in his county, and we rejoice to observe his erty, and the rights of all its citizens.

Is there a man who is not at the same time diste fellow-citizens, appended to the Address. monster who would not a thousand times rather see his party, any party, shattered into a of May State Mass Convention in this city, thousand fragments than to see this great conntry, now so smiling and peaceful, rising majostically, if slowly, from its late and yet lingering sorrows, its laments, its desolations, emerging from the charmel-house of war and death, plunged into new and bloody strile that must rage over its entire surface, and which, to human eyes, would seem endless? There is a bad spirit in the laud; werse, we fear, than when the actual war ended; and it is this which fills us with apprehension for the future. There are men whose passions becloud their judgments, and who see not how the drift-wood of public affairs is floating. There are others who regard human society as the unclean vulture regards its prey, and the elements thus evolved were perhaps never more active than at the present time in producing that state of things which makes the condition of the country so perilous.

Congress could settle the difficulty in one hour if it were so disposed. Let that body admit such representatives from the South as are unmistakably loyal, and send the others home to be replaced by different men if the people choose to elect them, and thus set at rest the uestion of restoration or "reconstruction" and the vote at the next Presidential election, and the horrible specter we have alluded to would at once down, and cease to haunt or to jeopard the Republic.

MERTING IN BRECKINEIDGE COUNTY .- We Massachusetts are as acceptable to us as those publish this morning the proceedings of a large of South Carolina, and we spurn them both meeting in Breckinridge county indoming the call for the 30th of May Convention and anthorizing delegates to it. Brackinridge county has thus exhibited its promptness of action. Let the other counties of the State follow her one side and of Charles Sumuer ou the other example. The time between now and ever exhibited the capacity to enjoy, and we the 80th of May is brief, and great diligence is shall firmly cling to this position as long as the necessary on the part of the friends of the people of Kentucky shall cherish the memory convention. Let them act stand upon the call, of Henry Clay.

There is a paper at Jackson, Miss., called "The Clarion." The editor seems to be a game-cock, and his paper is what Gray calls "the cock, and his paper is what Gray calls draws awords, broad around the clarical state."

"the cock's shrill ciarion."

There are certain publishers in Northern cities, who, without the least either of Interest or affection in the South, empioy their pens and presses in the publication of every form of appeal to those particular prejudices of the Southern people which are recognized and deplored by all of the wisest and best of them as the very fuel of Northern fanalical fire, and the bitterest of the many causes of unharphaess in the South. "Our best friends are those who tell us of our faults and how to correct them" is a simple maxim, as true as faith and as old as human manner. But what of these who, seeing others in a state of heartburning, suffering from the bitterness of irritation, would profess to share and descend to flatter it, thus prolonging, if not augmenting, with no object in the world but pay, the suffering of their fellow mar? We observe in some Southern newspapers a proof that the motive of this mercenary class is appreciated. National Intelligencer.

He was in the Legislature in 1861 and bolted (I'm not sure but that it was in the night). He is as open and arowed tebel. In 1862 he blockaded the roads by felling timber in the rear of Gen. Buckner against the pursuit of the Federal army when he (Buckner) was retreating from Bowling Green. I have known Maj. Barlow for about 15 years. Maj. Samuel W. Brent, the secretary of this meeting, is one of the worst rebels Barren county or any other county affords. Mr. Dickinson anthorizes me to say that Major Thompson declared that "he was one off the first to raise a company for the South to fight for Southern independence." that "he had fought all through the war, and was willing to do the same thing again." Mr. Dickinson is a reliable man, and I believe his attachment to be true. Thus you can see the character of the so-called "Democratic" meeting here. S. M.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journals.

In the month of March last, during my absence from Lebanon, a anort editorial appeared in the Journal, in which you were pleased to delend his Excellency Governor Bramiento for having pardoned one Joe B. Modd, an extraordinary specimen of honesty, who was convicted of theight sentence to the sentence of their and sentence to the sentence of their sentences. having pardoned one Joe B. Madd, an extraordinary specimen of honesty, who was convicted of their and sentenced to the pentientiary for one year. This editorial was called forth by a letter of mine published in the Journal of the 9m of March. I do not desire now to discuss the actions of the Governor is extending executive elemency to Modd. I do not desire to repeat that the excessive use of the pardoning power has materially injured society, eacouraged crime, and prevented civil others from properly executing the laws. I do not desire to that that it is suspected by many that mob law has usurped the place of civil law eccuss the ends of justice have been met with a strained quality of mercy from the State Erecutor. Neither do I wish to say that the use of the pardoning power has created an amonat of indignation in Marion county azimst the Governor, which estiminated in a strong remonstrance, "red by the best of our cit ene, and which yet has an existence. I which I could write as enlogistically of his Excellency as I see pleasantly toward him; cartainly I believe him to be a most excellent gentleman and an incorruptible officer. I believe that he uses the power to grant pardons incorrectly, and thus lo jared himself, and, above all, the people, that he has not synated parabole that homes all, the people, that he has not appealed that formores in reflaing to pardon criminals, which his friends he lieve him to possess; is papable to all. SETERMOON DISPATCHES.

To the Associated Press. New York, April 21.

New York, April 21.

The Herald's Toronto special, of last evening, says the Globe's Cornwall dispatch reports that diseatisfaction is expressed among the magistrates by the singular course of the Mayor of Cornwall, who is an Orangeman, and who, in forming his court, excluded all Catholic magistrates from the bench. This fact, together with the exclusion of the press and other circumstances, leads people to believe that, whether guilty or not, a diabolical attempt is being made to panish the prisoners. Wheeler was very insolent, and threatened, if not instandly released, to apply to President Johnson.

A special dispatch from Cornwall also says that a very unpleasant rumor is afloat, as follows: Detective Clark, while here as a witness, by speaking Irish got into the confidence of one O'Donohoe, of Cornwall, and indulged him in whisky. He represented himself as a Fenian sympathizer, and drew from O'Donohoe the names of other sympathizers here; also, that if any movement was made, Mayor Allen would be the first victim. Clark made affidavit that O'Donohoe gave this information, and the Mayor says he has it in his possession.

The citizens kindly offer to supply the prisoners with newspapers, but the magistrates already declare that the prisoners will be committed natil the fall assizes. The people consider this cruel prosecution shameful.

The Cornwall special dispatch to the Herald, dated last evening, save Colonel Wheeler was brought up for examination at 9.30 this morning. He acted in the most defaut manner, daring the magistrates to detain him longer. He stated that, as an American citizen, he would claim protection from Andy Johnson if they attempted to keep him under arrest without producing the evidence they professed to have against him. The magistrates were seriously frightened at his threate, and almost unanimously secided to let him go.

Master Mechanics' Association of Brook-

The Master Mechanics' Association of Brooklyn held a meeting last night, and addresses were made in which it was stated that notwithstan mg, the strike of the journeymen the odest and best hands still labored at the old rates. Capitalists who heretofore invested largely it building projects had put their capital in new channels, and it was probable that mechanics would have little to do during the summer.

The Herald says that a number of new express companies have been projected lately, but they have, no far, either been absorbed in or lought up by the old companies. We now hear that another one, called the Merchani's Union, has been organized, with a capital of 610 000 600, and that its principal office is soon to be opened—Elmore P. Ross, of Anburn, New Mork, President, and William H. Seward, Jr., Vice-President. The company intends, if it does not follow the new organizations praylously mentioned, to run over the principal routes of the country.

The Herald's Washington special says: It is understood that the Secretary of the Treasury has under consideration the subject of issuing proposals for a new five per cent lean.

The Word's Washington special says the Hones Judiclary Committee vesterday examined at great length a Dr. Jas. PUBLIC MEBTING IN BIGGKINRIDGE COUNTY INDORSING THE CALL FOR THE SOTH OF MAY CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the clitzens of Breckinridge county, held at the Court-bouse, in Hardinsburg, on the 10th day of April, 1866, on motion Eenry D. Baseham, Eq., was appointed Chairman, and George W. Jolly, Secretary.

Hon. Alired Allen made a speech explanatory of the objects of the meeting, and introduced the following resolutions, which were read and unanimously adopted, to wit.

Liwe, the people of Breckinridge county, without regard to old party ties or issues, declare:

First. That we indoze the line of policy included States, in his annual message to Congress, his veto messages against the Freedmen's Barreau till and the Civil Rights bid, and his response to the various delegations which have called on him from Een netw. Maryland and
